

EMBEDDED SYSTEMS

Embedded systems are computers that have a specific purpose.

A washing machine is an example of an embedded system because

ASSEMBLY LANGUAGE

Low Level languages are often faster because they don't need to be translated

PORTABILITY

Because an embedded system doesn't need to change, the programs don't either.

